Overview

All India Council of Human Rights, Liberties and Social Justice (AICHLS)

The All India Council of Human Rights, Liberties and Social Justice (AICHLS) stands as a formidable moral, legal, and humanitarian force dedicated to the protection, promotion, and enforcement of human rights, civil liberties, and social justice. Rooted in constitutional values and guided by universal human rights principles, AICHLS serves as the voice of the voiceless and the defender of human dignity across India and beyond.

AICHLS works relentlessly to combat injustice, discrimination, abuse of power, and systemic oppression. It intervenes where silence is imposed, where rights are denied, and where vulnerable individuals are left without representation. Through legal advocacy, human rights education, strategic interventions, policy engagement, and global cooperation, the Council bridges the gap between law and lived justice.

At its core, AICHLS believes that human rights are not privileges granted by the State but inherent rights bestowed by humanity itself. The organization actively addresses issues related to women's rights, child protection, labor rights, minority rights, prisoners' rights, healthcare justice, and access to fair legal remedies. Its mission is not symbolic activism, but action-oriented justice grounded in the rule of law.

Under the unshaken, visionary, and principled leadership of Dr. Anthony Raju, Advocate, Supreme Court of India, AICHLS has emerged as a globally respected human rights institution. His fearless commitment to justice, deep legal acumen, and unwavering moral courage have shaped the Council into a trusted defender of constitutional freedoms and international human rights norms.

AICHLS operates with integrity, independence, and compassion—standing firm against injustice, regardless of power or position. Guided by faith in law, humanity, and conscience, the Council remains steadfast in its mission: to uphold dignity, defend liberty, and deliver justice for every human being.

CEO and Secretary General Statement

- The All India Council of Human Rights, Liberties and Social Justice (AICHLS) was founded with a singular and uncompromising mission: to protect human dignity, defend constitutional liberties, and ensure that justice is not denied to any individual because of poverty, power imbalance, fear, or social exclusion.
- For us, human rights are not theoretical ideals or ceremonial declarations—they are enforceable, non-negotiable entitlements intrinsic to human existence. The Constitution of India and universally accepted human rights instruments place a solemn obligation upon society to uphold liberty, equality, and dignity. AICHLS exists to ensure that this obligation is translated into real protection, real remedies, and real accountability.
- Our work is firmly rooted in the rule of law. We believe that sustainable social justice can only be achieved when moral conscience is fortified by legal action. Accordingly, AICHLS engages in strategic legal advocacy, rights-based education, institutional interventions, and humanitarian action for the benefit of women, children, workers, minorities, prisoners, patients, and all vulnerable communities. We act not as observers of injustice, but as active defenders of rights and freedoms.
- Under the unshaken, principled, and visionary leadership of Dr. Anthony Raju, Advocate, Supreme Court of India, AICHLS has evolved into a credible national and international human rights institution. His fearless commitment to constitutional values, deep legal expertise, and unwavering integrity continue to guide the organization with clarity and strength.
- We call upon citizens, professionals, institutions, and global partners to join this mission—not for recognition, but for responsibility. Justice demands courage. Human dignity demands action. AICHLS remains steadfast in its resolve to stand for the voiceless, confront injustice without fear, and serve humanity with integrity, law, and conscience.
